Snow Update 2/3/2012 17:30

Despite some challenges, we made it to all sites today at least once. As crews finish the site they are currently on, we are going to take a break and head out again about midnight.

We are hoping to time our removal to have the most impact for morning travelers. Thankfully, it's a Saturday so traffic should be light.

Forecast is for 3"-5" more with wind gusts of 20 mph. What work we did today may be erased overnight. We already have had to mobilize heavy equipment on some sites to move the drifts.

Next update will be early tomorrow.

Thanks
