Snow Update 2/4/2012 07:00 AM

Timing worked pretty good last night. We started a new round of removal at 2:00 AM just as the snow was letting up.

We will be done with plowing shortly and shovelers should be through by lunchtime.

The wind and working in the dark was difficult. I think the best plan for final clean up is to finish up what we need to do today and then go out at first light tomorrow to recheck all sites.

If any immediate attention is needed, please let us know.

Looking forward, there is still a small chance of snow on Monday.
