Snow Update 2/25/2013 11:30 AM

Snow accumulations were more than originally forecast. In addition, the snow was very wet and heavy. While that is great news for our water situation, it made removal very difficult. We worked through the night and with some short rest periods, are continuing operations today.

Follow-up services will include cleaning any areas we may have missed, clearing parking spots as cars are moved, handling drifting snow, and moving and consolidating piles. These operations may require the use of heavy equipment and additional charges. Neal will be contacting you but please notify us if you do not wish us to perform these services at an additional cost.

We realize that a storm this size does cause a few hours of inconvenience. Please be assured that we are working as quickly as possible, to provide safe conditions, while being as efficient as possible to keep your expenses under control.

Thank you,
